A Historic Country Inn Is Transformed To Farm House Chic Without Losing Its Charm

MACARTHUR PLACE has a long history in the Sonoma community. It is one of the oldest examples of Victorian Architecture in Sonoma. The recent $20 million renovations were directed by Sue Firestone of SFA Design, RDC Architecture and conceptualized in partnership with experiential branding firm Love & War.

The 64 guest rooms, suites, and cottages feel residential and feature custom-designed furniture, some rooms include wood burning fireplaces, and all have the signature MacArthur Place "Provision's Bar."

There are three dining options on the property; Layla the hotel's most elevated dining experience is a Mediterranean menu with standout items, Halibut Shakshuka, and Lamb Tagine. The Bar at MacArthur offers an all-day food menu, and The Porch is an all-day coffee shop and market place. CH
